

Good Morning

I support the proposed Supplementary risk management principles for oral health during the covid 19 pandemic. Simplifying the guidelines and linking them to patient risk status (rather than procedures to be performed) makes them far easier to implement on the ground.

I feel the use of plastic aprons is problematic and not necessary. Launderable aprons/gowns are available to wear over scrubs if required.

Increased ventilation is desirable but good technical advice regarding different AC units is hard to find. These guidelines will be fundamental to future operability of dental practice.

Your sincerely,

Joanne Wallace
